Overview

How is the online landscape changing?

Are you asking the right questions?

Online brand name protection is a critical priority for brand owners.

With the meteoric growth of commerce, marketing and communication on the worldwide web, brand owners, legal counsel and users of the Internet are increasingly confronted with a rapidly changing landscape and an array of practical as well as legal issues and concerns such as:

- How is my brand perceived on the web?
- As 2012 will see a changing landscape on the Internet with the arrival of hundreds of new types of generic top level domains (new gTLDs), what threats and opportunities will these bring to consumers and business?
- How will existing mechanisms such as the UDRP cope? What are the new rights protection mechanisms that are contemplated? How will they affect brand owners?
- Are courts and government moving towards clarity with respect to the standards for liability of intermediaries, such as search engine and marketplace sites?
- In view of the delicate balance between promotion opportunities and the risk of backlash, how does one deal with the new social media and networking platforms?
- What are the litigation strategies for dealing with infringement in a new online environment?

Attend this advanced-level conference in Dublin, Ireland, on Friday, December 9, 2011 at the Radisson Blu Royal Hotel, to get answers to these questions and more from a variety of subject experts from across the globe. Learn about the changing landscape of online infringement as well as the role of the INTA Internet Committee and its work in shaping the future of the Internet.

Arrive in Dublin a day earlier and also attend INTA’s European Trademark Reforms Conference on Thursday, December 8, 2011.
Program

Agenda

Friday, December 9, 2011

8:00 am – 9:00 am  Registration and Continental Breakfast

9:00 am – 9:20 am  Welcome

9:20 am – 10:40 am  General Session I

New Generic Top Level Domains

The decision to limitlessly increase the number of generic top level domains (gTLD) has spawned a significant number of complex issues, and will result in future changes to the global domain name system and the Internet landscape. How will this affect online brand protection strategies? Should one object or apply? What are the threats and the opportunities for brand owners and businesses? Can there be a real competitive advantage? What are the positions of the International Trademark Association and other stakeholders?

Experts on these issues will discuss:

- New gTLDs, and their raison d’être
- Enforcement in a new world and new Rights Protection Mechanisms (RPMs)
  - Uniform Rapid Suspension System (URS)
  - Trademark Clearinghouse
• Opportunities for brand owners to apply for a new gTLD such as .BRAND
• Uniform Domain Name Dispute Resolution Policy (UDRP) and its evolution over the last decade
  o Electronic Uniform Domain Name Dispute Resolution Policy (eUDRP)
  o ICANN Policy Development Process (PDP)
• Recent developments at Internet Corporation for Assigned Names and Numbers (ICANN)
• The Three Rs -- Who do you sue? Registrant / Registrar / Registry and their potential liability – a move to intermediary liability?

Moderator:
David Taylor, Hogan Lovells International LLP (France)

Speakers:
Brian Beckham, World Intellectual Property Organization (WIPO) (Switzerland)
Stacey King, Richemont (United Kingdom)
Russell Pangborn, Microsoft Corporation (United States)
Nick Wenban-Smith, Nominet UK (United Kingdom)

10:40 am – 11:00 am Break

11:00 am – 12:10 pm General Session II

Search Engines and Marketplaces

Keyword advertising is a lucrative business; however, brand owners and companies are becoming increasingly concerned with how their brands or trademarks are being used. Does misuse constitute trademark infringement? What do the courts around the world have to say? What is the current status of marketplace liability and where is this going?

Distinguished panelists will discuss:
• Recent case law developments in the European Union
• The brand owner’s perspective, and how they deal with these problems
• The search engine company’s perspective, including policy, business rationale and take down procedures
• What can be learned from the United States courts?
• The Online Marketplace – where to next for brand owners?

Moderator:
Nick Bolter, Edwards Angell Palmer & Dodge UK LLP (United Kingdom)

Speakers:
David H. Bernstein, Debevoise & Plimpton LLP (United States)
Louise Delcroix, eBay Inc. (France)
Harjinder Ohbi, Google
Gregor Vos, Klos Morel Vos & Schaap (Netherlands)

12:10 pm – 12:30 pm General Session III
Internet Committee Update

Be brought up to date on what the INTA Internet Committee and Subcommittees are doing to fulfill the Association’s mission of ensuring trademark protection on the Internet and protecting consumers.

Speaker:
Claudio DiGangi, International Trademark Association (United States)

12:30 pm – 2:00 pm Lunch

2:00 pm – 3:10 pm General Session IV
The Rise of Social Media: The Legal Risks and Benefits to Brand Owners, Advertisers and Users

The concept of social media has taken the world by storm. Once a medium for social communication and interaction, social media has morphed into a highly effective marketing platform. Recognizing the phenomenal amount of exposure and reach that can be achieved in social fora, traders and brand owners are increasing their presence on social sites, but not without liability issues and repercussions.

Leading authorities will discuss:

- Optimizing these new tools while protecting your brands
- Potential IP breaches of images and videos, including that which lies ahead
- Digital Millennium Copyright Act (DMCA) notice and take down
- E-Commerce Directive
- Whether fan page creators and social network providers are host providers or content providers
- Whether a fan page is considered a forum or a blog, and to what extent does the degree of liability differ?
- Advertising techniques and consequences
- Privacy issues, including risks and benefits to users, as well as the EU Cookies Directive

Moderator:
Giulio Coraggio, DLA Piper Italy (Italy)

Speakers include:
Stacey King, Richemont (United Kingdom)
Michael Leadbeater, William Hill (United Kingdom)
Russell Pangborn, Microsoft Corporation (United States)

3:10 pm – 3:30 pm  Break

3:30 pm – 4:30 pm  General Session V
Domain Name Litigation Strategies

In anticipation of litigation stemming from the new gTLDs, be prepared in advance with strategies for defending your client’s interests. By reviewing current case law and analyzing the emerging domain name marketplace, expert litigators will extrapolate future trends to determine the best ways to proceed.

Issues to be discussed dealing with complexities surrounding jurisdiction include:
• Potential intermediary liability following the L’Oréal v eBay judgment
• Foreign government cessation of domain names at registry level based on registries being located in that jurisdiction
• The evolution of domain name infrastructure marketplace (registries/registry infrastructure providers/registrars/resellers) and its impact on litigation options
• Seizing a cybersquatter’s portfolio of names to collect judgment

Moderator:
Michael Palage, Afilias Limited (Ireland)

Speakers Include:
David H. Bernstein, Debevoise & Plimpton LLP (United States)
Ronan Lupton, Ronan Lupton B.L. (Ireland)
Okke Delfos Visser, MPAA Europe
Nick Wenban-Smith, Nominet UK (United Kingdom)

4:30 pm – 4:45 pm Break

4:45 pm – 5:45 pm General Session VI
The Final Platform

Join this highly interactive session with conference speakers to discuss:

• Search engines
• Concealment
• Privacy protection
• Combating counterfeiting online
• Social searching

Moderator:
Russell Pangborn, Microsoft Corporation (United States)
