Introduction to China – Shanghai

The land of the Middle Kingdom, with over a thousand years of history. This is China. Here visitors can fast forward in one day through centuries. Shanghai is good example of this. A mere fishing village at the turn of the last century, Shanghai is today the most dynamic city in China. A city of over 20 million people, it visibly reaches for the future through its hyper modern skyline. At the same time, Shanghai retains its very traditional character, with Chinese upturned roofs and classical gardens, tree lined avenues and classical European architecture, typical of its French colonial heritage. Book with us and we’ll show you the intriguing concoction of local and ancient character, traditional Chinese and international flair that Shanghai is.

Day 2)

Wednesday 7/ Friday 16 May 2014

Morning

American Buffet breakfast at the hotel (included)

Jade Buddha Temple

The Jade Buddha Temple, dating from 1918, is a beautifully ornated Buddhist temple. The essence of the temple are two jade Buddhist statues brought back from Burma by the Monk Huigen for Putuo Mountain during the Qing Dynasty. Buddhists and non-Buddhists gather together at this temple to escape the urban buzz and find peace in the inner patios and temple buildings.
The Old Town lies at the very center of the story of Shanghai, since this is the heart around which modern Shanghai has grown. Full with life and effervescent in spirit; it is perhaps the only concentrated remnant of Shanghai’s native past that has survived into the modern age. Here you’ll visit the Yu Garden, a complete example of an ancient Chinese garden in the heart of Shanghai.

Lunch

Chinese traditional dim sum lunch at restaurant Green Ripples (included)

Afternoon

The historic French Concession is roughly a 10 km/6 miles area in the downtown of Shanghai. From the mid-1800 to 1930’s, this tree-lined area was preferred by the nouveaux riches of all nationalities. Until now is the most romantic area of the city. Stroll or drive down Fuxing Road, Wukang Road or Xinhua Road in this Former French Concession, you will see the lovely Mediterranean, Tudor and art deco homes that set the architectural fashion some 70 to 80 years ago.
Located in the heart of the Former French Concession is Tianzifang/Taikang Road. This conglomerate of traditional Shanghainese dwellings – Shikumen – houses nowadays many quaint cafés, restaurants, art galleries and boutiques shops, giving the area a bohemian feel. It is a good place to relax, sit back with a nice cup of coffee and watch the people walk by.

Zhujiajiao Water Village, is only a 45 minutes drive from downtown Shanghai. From the hypermodern high rises of the city, you will be set back in time. Zhujiajiao is an example of what Shanghai was in the past days; a low rise, quaint Chinese village. In the water village, stroll down the alleys and over de arched bridges, take a traditional Chinese fishing boat (maximum 6 pax per boat) zipping around on the canals and have some free time shopping on the North Street – the town’s bazaar since 500 years, where local snacks, souvenirs are for sale.
