The Unreal Campaign is the International Trademark Association (INTA)'s consumer awareness initiative that educates young consumers (ages 14–23) about the value of trademarks and brands and the dangers of purchasing counterfeit products.

The sale of counterfeit products is a significant problem facing consumers, industries, brand owners, and governments.

The Unreal Campaign works to educate tomorrow’s consumers to help them make smart purchasing decisions today.

Counterfeit and falsified medical products represent a serious and growing Global Health challenge, for patients, authorities and pharmaceutical manufacturers alike. Tackling this challenge requires stronger collective action on multiple fronts. Raising public awareness on the dangers of counterfeit/falsified medicines is critical to protect patients’ safety. To that end, Novartis is a proud sponsor of the INTA Unreal campaign and strongly believes in the importance of educating younger generations on the safety risks associated with sourcing medicines outside the legitimate supply chain, especially on the internet.
